

We're updating our Terms, Data Policy, and Cookies Policy to make sure you know how your data is used so you can make the choices that are right for you.

These updates don't give us any new rights to collect, use or share your data on Facebook. The updated Terms better explain our service and what we ask of everyone using Facebook. The updated Data Policy and Cookies Policy reflect the new features we've been working on, and explain more about how we create a personalized experience for you. Updates include:

Adding information about features such as Marketplace, camera effects and accessibility tools

More detail about how our systems process things you share, such as text, photos and videos

More about how we share information, systems and technology across the Facebook Company Products, including WhatsApp, Instagram and Oculus

Adding Instagram, a service provided by Facebook Inc., to the Data Policy

Protecting your data is a big responsibility and we take it very seriously. In addition to these updates, you'll see new ways to control your privacy and information on Facebook soon.

Sincerely,
Erin Egan
Global Chief Privacy Officer
